

FROM $5 IN THE BANK TO TEACHING THOUSANDS

I feel exceedingly fortunate to be where I am today, considering I went from five dollars in my bank account to teaching thousands of artists to believe in their art - while discovering their personal artistic voice.

As an artist, teacher, and art coach, it is pure joy to watch my artists have their first successful show, get into a major gallery, or receive a large important commission.

Since I have gone through the school of hard knocks, I eagerly share my stories of vulnerability, my successes, failures, and strengths that have allowed me to become the artist and teacher I am today.

Some of the things I'm most proud of having accomplished include:

- I was the only American selected to show with His Royal Highness Prince Phillip at the Fermoy Art Gallery in England
- I've won top awards in National Juried Shows
- I was selected for inclusion in many art books
- I was commissioned by the NSA to create two large paintings for their offices in Maryland.
- Austin Cellars Winery of California selected one of my paintings for their new wine label
- I have held one-woman shows in New York, Washington DC, Colorado, Hawaii, Florida, South Carolina, and Mexico.

Popular Topics

DREAM BIG, THINK SMALL

Afraid to move forward?
Let's break everything down.

DEATH OF THE WOVEN MASK

Removing the mask people project on us to dictate who we should be.
Removing this Woven Mask is vital to becoming who we really are.

YOUR ITTY BITTY SHITTY COMMITTEE

How to deal with your creative inner critic.